

Call for Abstracts for the 15th Annual Women in Medicine Research Day Stony Brook University School of Medicine

Wednesday, May 26, 2021

~9:00 a.m. to ~2:30 p.m. via Zoom

The research accomplishments of Stony Brook University School of Medicine Women Faculty, Nurse Practitioners, Post-doctoral Fellows, Fellows, Residents, Medical Students, Graduate Students and Undergraduate Students will be highlighted in a program combining keynote speakers, Abstract presentations, and a distinguished Panel discussion.

Please join the day's events by submitting an Abstract. Based on their review, the Women in Medicine Research Day Abstract Review Committee will present awards to individuals whose work will be featured during the Closing Ceremony on the day of the event. We welcome submissions of new research findings or existing work presented at a national conference within the past 2 years. Your participation will highlight the outstanding accomplishments of women at the Stony Brook University School of Medicine. We look forward to receiving your submission.
